Differences

The differences between German life and French life :

- [-] During the trip I saw many differences like red lights. In France, we don't have red lights for bikes but in Germany they have and the light is orange before it becomes green.
- [-] German people don't have hours to eat because in Germany I had dinner at 6:30 p.m or 9:00 p.m.
- [-] At the weekend they eat their breakfast and their lunch together : it's the brunch.
- [-] German houses are often in black bricks, the first child often has a very large room to share and sometimes with a bathroom.
- [-] In France we have breakfast at home whereas they often have breakfast at school because they have the right to eat inside and they have a cafeteria.
- [-] Their breaks between lessons are in the school and not in the playground like us.
